How You Can Be a Part of The TV411 Think Math DVD Outreach Initiative

TV411 Think Math is an engaging curriculum resource for your adult literacy program and a way to connect your program participants with a wonderful educational television series.

TV411 airs on public television and cable stations around the country. The 30 half-hour episodes are designed for pre-GED adults and cover basic reading, writing, and math skills in real-life contexts. ALMA will make the TV411 Think Math DVD available free to literacy programs that are part of our outreach initiative. If you would like to participate in the TV411 Think Math outreach initiative, here's what to do:

- * Contact your local public television or community cable station and ask them if they are airing TV411. If they are not currently airing TV411, encourage them to do so.
- * E-mail or call Shelley Ruchti at ALMA, 212-807-4244, sruchti@edc.org, and give her the contact information of the person you reached at your local station.

That's it! Once we've heard from you, we will send you your free copy of the TV411 Think Math DVD. Our goal is to get as many stations as possible to air TV411 this fall. Once we have scheduling information for TV411 in your area, we will send it to you to distribute to your program participants.
